

Primary School Health Team Newsletter

Term 3 January 2021

This newsletter aims to provide families and young people with some useful tips for keeping healthy. Childhood is an important time to instil healthy habits and learn crucial life skills. Establishing these habits early on will help to improve your child's quality of life in the future and enable them to reach their full potential educationally.

Dear all,

As we entered our second period of school closures last week, we want to reassure you that the School Nursing Service are still here, ready to help and support you, and your children. Although many children are not able to attend school the school nurses are able to make contact by phone, text, email or digital consultation. We can also meet if necessary face to face with children, as we are wearing personal protective equipment, to help protect us all. These are trying times and it is important to remember this won't last forever and we all need to adhere to all the government guidance, hands, face, space and staying at home. The roll out of the vaccine will take some time, and we can all play our part in keeping each other safe until this disease is under control. Please do open the links in this newsletter as there are many ideas and resources out there to help us all get through.

MindEd for families is a free online educational resource on children and young people's mental health for all adults, which can support parents and carers through these exceptional circumstances.

Providing clear information about the situation. Children and young people want to feel assured that their parents and carers can keep them safe. One of the best ways to achieve this is by talking openly about what is happening and providing honest answers to any questions they have, using words and explanations that they can understand. Explain what is being done to keep them and their loved ones safe, including any actions they can take to help, such as washing their hands more often than usual. There are resources available to help you do this, including the Children's Commissioner's Children's Guide to Coronavirus, or the Inter-Agency Standing Committee (IASC) have produced a storybook developed by and for children around the world affected by COVID-19.

Community call to action!

The Oxford Vaccine Group is surveying how well protected we are from infectious diseases, including COVID-19 from a cross section of society. In particular we know that Black, Asian and minority ethnic individuals are at greater risk of becoming sick with COVID-19 than the white population in the UK. We need to understand why.
